

UPDATED 04/11/2020

Following an update from the Government to schools this evening, we can confirm the following with regards to school provision during the 4-week national lockdown which begins tomorrow, Thursday 5th November.

- The school will continue to operate, working to stringent COVID safe procedures.
- All pupils, Year 7 and above, unless exempt under medical terms, will be required to wear a face covering whilst in communal areas outside of the classroom, such as corridors, where social distancing cannot be easily maintained. Parents should supply their children with face coverings however the school will continue to hold a supply for emergency situations.
- After school activities will continue to operate for the purpose of wrap-around care, to enable parents to work, attend education or training, or for the purposes of respite care for carers.
- School transport will continue to run for travel to and from the school sites. Wearing of face coverings continues to be mandatory for pupils Year 7 and above, unless they hold a medical exemption.
- Visitor access will be restricted to essential needs only.
- If you understand your child to be within the Clinically Extremely Vulnerable category and you have not received communication from the NHS you should seek appropriate medical guidance before sending your child school. Please notify coronaupdate@langleschool.co.uk to confirm relevant guidance given for your child.
- Children who are Clinically Vulnerable or have underlying health conditions, but are not Clinically Extremely Vulnerable, may continue to attend school in line with current guidance.
- Children who live with someone who is Clinically Extremely Vulnerable but who are not Clinically Extremely Vulnerable themselves should still attend education, unless directed otherwise.
